De-risk Excel

Reduce your reliance on complex Excel business logic

The problem we solve

You use Excel for a process, but the model you use is complex and team members don't understand it. And the formulas can be edited accidentally, meaning a lot of time spent checking and confirming the outputs.

Our service

- Share your existing excel model with us we'll extract the complex formulas into a simple human readable format that your team will understand.
- Get an enhanced Excel back. Your users can continue to use Excel for input, with calculations now executable at the click of a button.
- Business users can view the formulas to understand the calculations and can upload results to pinpoint errors automatically.
